

Shift

Shaping the standards, incentives and practices that advance business respect for human rights

Navigating the Nexus

Climate • Nature • People

For Financial Institutions 2026

Climate change, nature loss and human rights impacts are deeply interconnected.

This four-session series equips financial institutions to integrate climate, nature and people considerations into governance and decision-making, risk management, and value creation through more holistic approaches.

OUTCOMES

Integrate governance and decision-making

Identify nexus risk hotspots

Build the business case for integration
and know its limits.

Assess the quality of clients' stakeholder engagement

Apply integration where it creates
the greatest value

Improve measurement and disclosure

Interactive. Practical. Peer-to-peer.

Strengthen your strategy and drive meaningful impact.

THE SESSIONS

SEPT

SESSION 1: INTEGRATING GOVERNANCE & MAKING THE BUSINESS CASE

- Identify where integrated approaches can create the greatest value.
- Build a compelling business case for integrating climate, nature and people.
- Explore practical opportunities to strengthen governance and decision-making.

OCT

SESSION 2: ADDRESSING CLIMATE-NATURE-PEOPLE HOTSPOTS

- Identify interconnected impacts and opportunities across portfolios.
- Prioritize nexus hotspots using value chain and scenario analysis.
- Develop coherent, decision-useful approaches to managing risks.

OCT

SESSION 3: COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT IN A COMPLEX CONTEXT

- Explore practical examples that call for integrated approaches (e.g., data centers, critical mineral mining).
- Understand how community impacts become financially material.
- Build stronger frameworks for assessing the quality of clients' stakeholder engagement.

NOV

SESSION 4: INNOVATIVE MEASUREMENT & DISCLOSURE

- Identify meaningful, decision-useful KPIs.
- Explore integrated approaches to disclosure.
- Align with ISSB, TNFD and emerging TISFD expectations.

INCLUDES

- ✓ Four live virtual sessions
- ✓ Peer discussion
- ✓ Guest speakers
- ✓ Practical tools and frameworks
- ✓ Office hours with Shift experts
- ✓ Resource materials

FEES

$15,000

PER COMPANY

Up to three participants

The fee includes all sessions, training materials and resources.

Group discounts available for three or more participants.

FOR MORE INFORMATION

 ashleigh.owens@shiftproject.org

 shiftproject.org